The Vote As Cast On Each
Of The Proposals

The belief is prevalent among many voters that all the propositions for amending the Constitution, and which are to be voted on at special election on Sept. 3, were passed by an unanimous vote of the members of the constitutional convention. This is far from the fact.

There are some very interesting data connected with the convention. It was composed of 119 members. There was presented for consideration 340 proposed amendments and 162 resolutions, making a total of 502 questions considered during the session.

The convention had an official existence of 151 days and was in session 82 days.

The result of its work was that 42 amendments were adopted for submission to the voters. Of the 42 adopted only ten received an unanimous vote. The opposition to the others ranged from a single vote up to 31 votes.

KILLED

In California Was Former
Mansfield Woman

(Mansfield News)
Mrs. Elza Fendrich, whose maiden name was Miss Mary Mann, was killed yesterday afternoon in an automobile accident at Oakland, Cal., her husband was slightly hurt and their 6-year-old son, Jean, was badly injured.

News of the accident came in the form of a message to William Fendrich, brother of Elza Fendrich, and the message stated that the body of Mrs. Fendrich would be brought to Mansfield for burial, the funeral party having arranged to leave Oakland this evening.

In the automobile with Mr. and Mrs. Fendrich and their son, was a Miss Perrin, whose home is in Detroit, but who has been in Oakland for some time past. "She" was also quite badly injured. No details of the accident were given in the telegram.

The Fendrich family left Mansfield about nine years ago, having first gone to Kansas City and afterward to Oakland, where Mr. Fendrich has been in the employ of an electrical company. Mrs. Fendrich, who was about 36 years of age, was a stepdaughter of Mrs. David Mann, of this city. She is survived by three brothers, Marion Mann, of Mt. Gilead; John of Cleveland, and Charles, of Oakland.

Definite arrangements for the funeral cannot be made until word is received as to the time that the body will reach here.

Mr. W. S. Gunsclous, a farmer living near Fleming Pa., says he used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in his family for fourteen years, and that he has found it to be an excellent remedy, and takes pleasure in recommending it. For sale by all dealers.

GLACIAL PERIOD

And How It Affected Portions
Of This State

Described By Prof. Martzloff
At Institute

Representative Of The Ohio
School Commissioner

To Speak At The Institute
On Wednesday

The devotional exercises on Wednesday morning at the Knox County Teachers' Institute were in charge of Supt. Poie, of Danville. Mr. Paul Fry of Gambler then played a piano solo and responded to an encore.

Prof. Martzloff gave the opening address, the subject being "What the Ice Did to Ohio," referring to the great sheet of ice that came down from the northeast and covered the northern two-thirds of Ohio. From an outline map he traced the old drainage system of the state in pre-glacial times and showed how the glacier turned the courses of rivers until the present drainage system was formed. The glacier also made the northern part of Ohio level as it is today, made the soil of the state fertile and accounts for the many conditions of soil as found in different countries.

Dr. Green's address was "My Book and I." He said that he would consider two things in this discussion: viz., (a) the nature of the book, and (b) the attitude of the reader. In choosing books for one's library and reading, Dr. Green said that we should choose those that are matured, wholesome, cheerful and varied. As the noon hour had now arrived Dr. Green left the remainder of the discussion, "The Attitude of the Reader," for the afternoon session.

At noon Tuesday the enrollment had reached 320.

It was announced that on Wednesday morning a representative of the Ohio School Commissioner will be present to address the teachers and in the afternoon of the same day Mrs. Katherine Gebhardt, representing the W. C. T. U., will deliver a lecture on "Scientific Temperance."

Monday Afternoon
Monday afternoon the Teachers' Institute was opened by singing, Miss Stella Fish, leading.

"Guiding Principles in Teaching Literature" was the subject of Dr. Green's talk. He said that he wanted teachers to teach literature, not about it. "This means," he said, "getting at the heart of the thought of the author and to get that thought into one's own heart." He gave the following guiding principles to be used in teaching literature: (1) Select a few authors. (2) Let them be the best—"The best" he said, "is what betters the brain, helps the heart, and lifts the life." (3) Drive out the bad by introducing the good. (4) Adapt the study to the interest and capacity of the child. (5) Vary the kind. He also emphasized the importance of teaching poetry.

After a short intermission Prof. Martzloff continued his talk of the morning on "The Impeachment Trial of Andrew Johnson." When President Lincoln was assassinated and Johnson became president the reconstruction of the South was the great work to be accomplished. Three plans of reconstruction were then being considered. Johnson tried to carry out the one begun by Lincoln, but not understanding men as Lincoln did and lacking Lincoln's tact, he was soon at sword's point with Congress. The Tenure of Office Bill was passed by Congress by which he could not remove an officer without consent of Congress. Then when he removed the Secretary of War, Edwin Stanton, he was impeached by Congress for a violation of this bill. Prof. Martzloff in a very interesting way described this trial, telling how all power was taken away from Chief Justice Chase, who presided, and given to the fifty-four senators who heard the trial thus making them both judge and jury. Johnson was acquitted by just one vote.

The speaker said that the real cause of all this trouble leading up to the impeachment was that when President Lincoln died there was no one big enough to carry out his plans as he would have done.

Mr. John Kirk of Ashland, is spending a week in the city.

GET RID OF RHEUMATISM

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, the application of plasters, and other means of external treatment, are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism. But such treatment does not get rid of the disease, because it does not reach its source. Rheumatism comes from an excess of uric acid in the blood. This acid acts as an irritant to the nerves, muscles and joints, and produces the inflammation and swelling, and sharp cutting pains characteristic of the trouble.

When the blood is overburdened with uric acid it grows thinner and poorer in nourishing qualities. Then Rheumatism becomes chronic and not only a painful but a dangerous disease. You can get rid of Rheumatism by purifying the blood with S. S. S. This vegetable remedy goes into the circulation, neutralizes and removes the uric acid, and by building up the thin, sour blood, safely and surely cures the disease. S. S. S. makes rich, nourishing blood, which quiets excited nerves, eases the painful muscles and joints and filters out every particle of irritating uric acid from the system.
